Paul and his wife Karen joined Glenayre Scottish Dancing Club in Coquitlam in 2016. It was Karen's idea, of course, but Paul soon realised that it was fun to spend Tuesday nights in dance class together. He appreciates the time and patience of the instructors Fran and Gail and the support of the experienced dancers in the club. Paul has recently retired from the federal public service and can now spend more time traveling and dancing.