

Donna Main

I grew up the daughter of a Piper but followed in the footsteps of my brothers going into team sports. In my early years, I had passing thoughts to be that Premier Highland Dancer that my cousin was in Elgin, Scotland. That, too, did not come to pass. I was into Lacrosse, skiing, and chasing a squash ball. I did pick up my Dad's chanter after he passed but my fingers just didn't quite stretch far enough. Sports were always in my life. It helped to reduce the stress in the career I chose.

I was a year into retirement when my Scottish cousin came to visit in the Fall of 2016. I pulled the cousin card, asking if she could come to a Scottish Country Dance class. To my surprise, she said "yes". Well, it pays to pull the cousin card. Here I am 2 years later dancing at Burnaby, White Rock, and the Thursday Thistles.
